Stella Kon

Stella has been writing since childhood. She won the first prize in the Singapore National Playwriting Competition three times, her best known work being the often-produced Emily of Emerald Hill. In 2008 she received the SEA Write Award.

Since 2005 the writing of musicals has become Stella's favorite literary genre – because “musicals are collaborative, complex, challenging, demanding, and enormously rewarding in final expression.” She has written several musicals, including Exodus and Blue Willow House with Kenneth Lyen, Victorian Days with Chester Tan, and Lost in Transit, Peter and Pierre, Merlion Legend and Emily the Musical with Desmond Moey.

In 2005 Stella joined Musical Theatre Society (the precursor of the current organisation.) In 2006 the Society became incorporated as the arts charity Musical Theatre Limited, and she became its Chairperson.

Stella was born in Edinburgh and lived for many years in Malaysia. She now lives in Singapore. She has two sons living in Britain and Australia, and six grandchildren.
